Project Date: March 2015

Project Price Range: more than $100,000

I hired Paul Sagi of Lux Builders in October 2014 to: install hardwood floors, remove a wet bar and replace it with a custom cabinet, completely renovate the master bath, replace my kitchen counter, install new light fixtures, and repaint. Paul and his crew were terrific from the demolition to finishing the last details.

Paul was professional and detailed in his initial proposal. He was always reasonable and easy to work with. When my downstairs neighbor had some water back up in their bathroom, Paul sent one of his plumbers immediately to fix it for free, even though it wasn't 100% clear that the construction had caused the problem. When issues came up, we could always talk about it and find a solution to the problem.

The work was done quickly and well. All of Paul's workers are great. They're highly skilled in their areas, whether it's tiling, painting, electrical, etc., and are moreover polite, helpful, tidy, and pleasant to have around.

I was delighted with the quality of the work. I had tile laid, cabinets made, maple floors installed, frameless glass shower doors put in, electrical work done, and walls smoothed and painted – all of it looks first class.

Paul might not be the cheapest builder you can find, but you get what you pay for. He reliably delivers excellent service and quality, and it was a pleasure working with him and his crew. I would recommend him to anyone.
